ONE YEAR AGO

Conditions on the Ohio Are Quite Different Just Now

This time last year the river was frozen over and pedestrians were using it as a bridge in passing to and fro between this city and Aberdeen.

On the 12th of December last the Ohio was comparatively free of ice and in less than forty-eight hours it was frozen over good and tight and remained so, with short intervals, until February, when the break-up came, and one of the grandest and most awe-inspiring sights was witnessed by thousands who lined each side of the banks of the Ohio.

It was a scene never to be forgotten. The mighty force which swept from her moorings and carried to utter destruction the steamer Big Kanawha was a mournful and impressive incident.

Now that we have magnificent ice piers to protect river craft it is not likely that such a destruction of river property will ever occur here again.

It is possible the river may remain open and navigation be uninterrupted all winter.

UNCLE SAM finds it harder to stop hazing at Annapolis than to subdue the festive Filipino.

MORE money is needed for the Christmas dinner to poor children and for coal for deserving families. The distribution will be made by a committee of ladies who will take pains to see that it goes where it will do the most good.

JOHN SHARPE WILLIAMS, Democratic leader in the House of Representatives, in closing a speech a few days ago, said, "The people of the country are tired of the Republican party." Wonder if Mr. WILLIAMS has read the returns from last fall's election—the vote between Mr. PARKER and Mr. ROOSEVELT for example.

THE house in Arch street, Philadelphia, where, under the direction of WASHINGTON, BETSY ROSS made the first American Flag, will be turned over to the National Government June 16th. It has been owned by over a million stockholders of a company, and consent has finally been secured to make the transfer.

AT Annapolis last week—and while the trial of Midshipman MERIWETHER was in progress for the killing of Midshipman BRANCH in a "hazing" prize fight—Midshipmen COFFIN of Nevada and VAN DENVER of New Jersey amused themselves by making Midshipman KIMBROUGH of Tennessee stand alternately on his head and his feet until he became unconscious and was carried to the Hospital. For this highly amusing diversion the "middies" were suspended—and it ought to have been by the heels.

POLICE JUDGE MOORE of Newport is a man after my own heart. What he does to young "toughs" who come before him is not a plenty, but it's so much more than they get ordinarily that it's worth mentioning. A few days ago three candidates for the gallows, neither above 18 years of age, committed a brutal assault on an old man; and for this Judge MOORE gave the ringleader a fine of $125 and 60 days in Jail, the others getting $50 fine and 30 days in Jail. To top it off, the Judge sent for the Jailor, thinking he was from Missouri, and showed him an ordinance which gave him authority to put bread and water on his menu. The Jailor tumbled in a heap, and promised the Court that that would be the diet of the toughs during their entire stay at his hotel. May Judge MOORE's tribe increase.

THE FOUR HUNDRED.

"Pop," said Tommy, "what do the newspapers mean when they say 'a member of the 400'?"

"They refer, Tommy, to certain society men and women who think they are better than anybody else, and that's about all the thinking they do."

"Did I ever see one of 'em, Pop?"

"I don't know, Tommy; but you can easily tell one if you run across it."

"How?"

"If it's in a streetcar, it talks so loudly that you can't hear the roar of the wheels."

"If it's on a street corner, it laughs so boisterously that the policeman wakes up and walks away."

"If it's in a Church, the plumes in its hat hides the preacher."

"If it's at a party, the most of its clothes are in the dressing-room."

"If it's in an automobile, dodge it, if you are quick enough, and come home to mamma alive."

"If it's walking on the sidewalk, it usually strides along as if it was taking the street home with it."

"If it's in a store, you can stand outside and hear it give its orders."

"If it's in a theater, you can tell by the stony stare in its face that the actors are doing good and intelligent work."

"If it's in a railway station in full dress, you'll wonder why the locomotive doesn't jump the track and take to the woods."

"You can't miss it, Tommy."

INDIGESTION'S RECORD

"The best remedy I can prescribe for your indigestion, madam, is Green's August Flower. I know of several other physicians who prescribe it regularly."

Indigestion is making an awful record as a cause of sudden deaths. It is beating heart-failure in its ghastly harvest.

You read in the papers daily of apparently healthy and even robust men being suddenly attacked with acute indigestion after enjoying a hearty meal, and of their dying in many cases before a physician could be called in.

This should be a warning to you who suffer with regular or periodical attacks of indigestion. If these unfortunate victims of acute indigestion had taken a small dose of Green's August Flower before or after their meals they would not have fallen a prey to such sudden seizures. August Flower prevents indigestion by creating good digestion. It also regulates the liver, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system in a natural way.

THE HILL BILLIES

Origin of and Purposes Inspiring the Acts of Anarchism That Have Southern Kentucky and Northern Tennessee in Turmoil

Down in "Upper Dixie," where the "Hill Billies" are riding and raiding, once rode and raided the Ku Klux Klan. The latter dealt with idle Negroes and "poor white trash," curbing depredations and regulating their devotion to duties of citizenship by the correcting rod and the terror of night-time visitations. Now the "Hill Billies" are menacing corporate wealth and intimidating agents of capital who come to trade with them. This war is for the arbitrary adjustment of prices on a staple commodity which one has and the other wants, tobacco.

In a way Cincinnati, and especially her contributory territory lying across the Ohio river, finds an element of vital interest in the revels of the "Hill Billies" reported from along the Southern border of the Bluegrass state. This because the anarchistic demonstrations, of which incendiarism, in the way of dynamiting and burning of tobacco factories, has been made a part, is one phase of a war between planter and purchaser in the production and marketing of the immense tobacco crop of that region. In its inception the contest was of like nature to that war waged more or less aggressively between the burley raisers and the burley buyers at the Northern end of the state. Both are contentions between what are denominated farmers' or tobacco growers' associations and what is characterized as the Tobacco Trust or combination. Developments indicate that the contention in the dark tobacco belt has reached a degree of bitterness and desperation totally beyond contemplation in the burley fields.

While the actual violence reported is so far confined to Kentucky counties lying along the Southern border, the movement is in reality much more extensive. It begins in Tennessee and runs across a number of Kentucky counties, including Logan, Todd, Christian, Trigg and others. There is a belt of heavy rich soil that grows a tobacco raised nowhere else in the world. It is of somewhat varying grade and shade, but in quality is so nearly uniform as to be classable under the general head of "black tobacco." Its market is confined, and, under existing conditions, competition for its purchase is restricted largely to the Italian market, represented by the Regies. The American Tobacco Company has use for some of the lighter weight grades, but the great bulk of the growth goes to Italy.

The farmers hold that the combination is in restriction of competition, and that the prices are held down by the system adopted by the purchasing consumers. This system is the districting of the entire black tobacco belt and the placing of a buyer, who acts directly for the Regies or the American Tobacco Company in each district. These buyers take the tobacco directly from the raiser unprized, and handle it in their own factories. They buy for the Regies or the Tobacco Company, each having separate buyers, and are paid so much per hundred for handling, prizing and shipping. As a result of this system the tobacco market at Clarksville, Tenn., the largest black tobacco market in the world, has been practically put out of business. That at Hopkinsville, Ky., the next largest, is badly crippled.

Among the larger growers of the weed were many who prized and shipped their own tobacco to these markets. They have found the market for their products in this form greatly curtailed for want of buyers. They refuse to sell directly to the tobacco buyers in their districts and opened war by combination under the cry of death to the Trust. The tobacco companies justify their action of districting the tobacco belt and buying direct from the producer, so far as they can, to meet their needs, on the declaration that they have suffered large losses by reason of dishonest prizing. They assert that tobacco they have bought one year for use the next, which is their rule, has, when opened, been found to be from half to two-thirds grade below sample, it having been so adroitly "nested" that the sample has been invariably drawn from the best tobacco in the hoghead.

The war, as it opened, was combination against combination, along commercial lines. The buyers sought tobacco in the loose from the producer at a price fixed by the buying companies. The associated producers, reinforced and supported by the warehouse men of Clarksville and Hopkinsville, formed an alliance, obligating themselves under no circumstances to sell tobacco in the loose to the buyers, and to sell only in common and at no price not satisfactory to the association of producers.

The press of Clarksville has waged relentless war on the buyers and the tobacco companies, and the Tobacco Growers Association has been aggressive in securing pledges from as many as possible among the raisers that they would not sell to the Regie or American Tobacco Company buyers. In spite of all this bitterness of verbal and press warfare and influence of the larger and more independent producers, the buyers have found among the smaller producers, who were not financially fixed for holding this, their only cash-producing crop, many ready to accept their offer, and have continued to buy.

Unable to persuade all producers to refuse to sell at the prices offered and in the loose, large bodies of men are riding about over the country warning the raisers of boycott and the buyers of unfriendliness in case the traffic was not discontinued. They have greatly restricted the commerce, but have not been able to effectually stop the buyers from receiving or the raisers from selling. Recently the Regies, after some lengthy negotiations with the Growers Association, made them an offer for 5,000 hogheads of the common holdings of their better grades suitable alone for the Italian uses, and the offer was accepted. This was heralded as an olive branch, and it was thought the bitterness would be allayed. But the result is the reverse.

The violent element, which the Association formally repudiates, encouraged by the seeming concession from the purchasing party, has proceeded to put into practice the spirit of bitterness voiced in many of the cards and letters published by the Association leaders. They have in bodies of from 100 to 200 masked men ridden to the homes of the district buyers and told them that they must not receive any more tobacco except it be bought with the sanction of the Association. They have ridden to the homes of those raisers not members of the Association and have warned them that they must not sell, and if they have sold they must not deliver their tobacco to the Regie or the American Tobacco Company's buyers. This not having proved effective in putting a stop to the buying and selling between agents and outsiders, more stringent methods have been adopted, as illustrated in the holding up of the train near Elkton, Ky., the dynamiting of the American Tobacco Company's factory at Hopkinsville, and the burning of the Regie factory at Clarksville, but a few miles away. A system of masked men, armed with shotguns, has been adopted by the buyers, to buy

Help For the Poor

NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS MADE

Several Specify Amounts For the Purchase of Coal

Send Cash to The Ledger and Donations of Articles as Directed By Ladies in Charge

Not a great deal of time remains for the ladies having the proposed Christmas dinner in charge to solicit aid, and it is hoped that before the time limit, December 18th, the responses will be many and generous.

The undertaking will mean the outlay of a goodly sum, together with large amounts of provisions as heretofore named, and the success of the holiday treat rests upon the generosity of the more fortunate people.

In the published list of cash subscriptions it will be seen that a part is to be expended for coal, and one good lady has provided for the dressing of the tree; but more money is needed for the dinner, and only a few days are left in which to add your mite.

Some of Maysville's best known ladies are in the movement. Mrs. Larry Langefels is Chairman of Committee on Cooked Food; Mrs. Harry B. Owens, Chairman of Committee on Cake, Fruits and Nuts; Mrs. R. A. Cochran, Chairman of Committee in charge of Tree; Mrs. Elizabeth W. Power is Chairman of Committee on Table appointments.

The dinner is to consist of turkey, chicken, roast beef, potatoes, beans, bread, butter, milk, pickles, cake, fruit, candy and nuts, and is to be served at 1:30 on Christmas Day.

Any supplies left over from the dinner will be distributed to the poor who were not able to attend.

Those who wish to donate milk or butter will please report to Mrs. M. C. Russell.

A list of worthy children must be sent to Miss Amy N. Pfister not later than Sunday afternoon, December 17th.

Notify the ladies that you are willing to help, or send your cash subscription to THE LEDGER, and you will enjoy your Christmas all the more.

The Keystone State is the next boat due down from Pittsburgh.

Boats will begin running between Louisville and Mammoth Cave in the spring.

The Sprague left Cairo a day or so ago for New Orleans with the largest tow of coal ever taken South by one towboat.

The approaching holidays make business brisk among the packets. All of them are having good trips of freight and passengers.

H. May of Evansville, Ind., has been awarded the contract for building Government Dam No. 1 at Wheeling, W. Va. The estimated cost is $363,557.

The packets are sharing in the prosperity of the towboats along this part of the Ohio much better than last year. At this time last year the river was frozen over from headwaters to below the principal port of the lower river, so that no boat of any kind could move. This year all boats are moving with all sorts of freedom.

THE DUKE OF KILLICRANKIE.

"The Duke of Killicrankie" will be at the Washington Theater Friday, December 25th, presented by a brilliant company headed by Miss Rose Coghlan. The story of "The Duke of Killicrankie" is a very pretty love affair or rather two affairs which after a series of complications end to the perfect satisfaction of the four sweethearts concerned. Miss Nina Phillips, Mr. Lynn Pratt and Wallace Erskine are also notable players in the cast.

Mr. Ed. Huron has moved his family back to this city from Dayton, O.

ANOTHER BAD MAN

John Spencer and His Artillery Arrested Saturday Night

John Spencer, colored, a dangerous character, was arrested Saturday night by Officers Ryan and Wallace and locked up for safe keeping. He visited Bradford's saloon in Front street and when ordered out and away drew a revolver and made threatening demonstrations against the bartender.

He was arrested later in the night in the collar at the home of his sister in West Third street.

When approached by the officers he was asleep, the ever ready revolver lying by his side ready for use.

He was subdued by the united efforts of the two Policemen, after a scuffle, and placed in Jail.

If he is crazy, as some claim, he should be sent to the Asylum; if he is sane, he should be kept in Jail or some restraint put upon him to prevent his doing harm to others, as he surely will if not watched closely.

MEMORIAL TO FOSTER

To Be Paid for By School Children of the State

A movement has been inaugurated in Louisville for the erection of a life-size statue to Stephen Collins Foster, author of "My Old Kentucky Home," to be paid for by the school children of Kentucky. The statue is to be the handiwork of Miss Enid Yandell, and will cost $6,000.

It will be unveiled in Louisville about June 14th, and will later be cast in bronze and placed in a prominent position in the new State Capitol.

State Superintendent of Schools Joseph Fuqua will be asked to communicate with all City and County School Superintendents in the state requesting them to instruct the teachers to take up such collections as they may deem advisable.

For the purpose of collecting the money sealed boxes will be used, so that no rivalry may be aroused among the pupils of the different schools.

Work on the memorial is expected to begin the early part of January.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Plenty Of Them in Maysville, and Good Reason For It

Wouldn't any woman be happy, After years of backache suffering, Days of misery, nights of unrest, The distress of urinary troubles, She finds relief and cure?

No reason why any Maysville reader Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Lizzie Burns, living on the Blue Run Turnpike, West End, Maysville, Ky., says:

"My opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills which I expressed through our newspapers in the spring of 1900 has not altered. I value this preparation more highly today than I did when I gave my first testimonial. Before I got Doan's Kidney Pills at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstore I was troubled with severe spells of backache and kidney complaint, which came on every three or six months, and there were times when I was confined to my bed and rendered almost helpless. The quick and decided benefit I received from Doan's Kidney Pills was wonderful. I have noticed slight returns of backache since, but an appeal to Doan's Kidney Pills has never failed to quickly and positively check the trouble. In every case I know among my friends when Doan's Kidney Pills have been used the results have always been satisfactory."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.
